

ENGLAND FENCING POLICY & GUIDELINES ON FIRST AID QUALIFICATION FOR COACHES

Introduction. England Fencing (EF) recognises that in most circumstances where clubs operate or fencing activities take place, there is usually on duty a member of the venue staff (Leisure or Sports Centre, Holiday Complex, School etc) qualified in emergency first aid. EF also recognises that there are occasions when the coach may be operating in circumstances (eg a village hall, where the caretaker unlocks the hall and then comes back at the end of the evening to lock up) where there are no other responsible people with a first aid qualification.

Aim. The aim of this policy is to clarify the EF position on First Aid (FA) qualification for coaches so that it is aligned with the requirements for ClubMark accreditation.

Background. Up to now a FA qualification has been a compulsory requirement for the award of a coach certificate but without there being a clearly defined standard as to what sort of qualification that should be and without due notice being taken of the environment or location in which the coaching takes place.

Policy with effect from 15 November 2008. With effect from 15 November 2008 EF's policy is to strongly recommend that its registered coaches should hold a basic first aid qualification and all EF coach education programmes will be encouraged to continue to offer FA training as part of the programme. The appropriate course is the shortest course available to gain a certificate, sometimes referred to as 'Emergency First Aid', or 'Appointed Person' course.

If the club/clubs/competitions where a coach operates already has established first aid cover then there will be no compulsory need for the coach to be FA qualified.

All EF registered coaches have a responsibility to ensure, as part of their risk assessment, that the club, clubs and/or competitions at which they might coach have access to First Aid equipment and that the venue has emergency procedures for dealing with serious injuries/accidents, including ensuring telephone or radio contact with the emergency services.

All candidates for coaching awards will be given a choice of whether or not to attend FA training and EF will still continue to record if they do have a FA award on the Coaching Register (and provide a reminder service each time they need to renew), This will be important for search purposes when EF gets enquiries about coaches from outside organisations. It should be recognized that many organisations (eg County, Borough and District Councils, school Sports Partnerships) hiring the services of fencing coaches require those coaches to hold a First Aid qualification.

In addition, all new coach candidates, those upgrading their award, coaches renewing their certificates or converting awards obtained under other coach education systems, if they so choose not to hold a FA qualification, will have to sign and date a declaration that they have read and understood the EF Policy and Guidelines on First Aid Qualification and submit that with their coach documentation when they apply for an award (much like new coaches do now with the Safety Guidelines and Codes of Conduct).

EF will continue to keep this policy under review, as it does with all aspects of its process, systems and procedures.

Transition Arrangements. Anyone now signed up for FA training (as at 15/11/08) is strongly encouraged to complete it, but they are advised that their registration as an EF coach is no longer conditional on it.

Encl: Declaration Form

ENGLAND FENCING

FIRST AID POLICY DECLARATION

Please write clearly in block capitals

Name.....

Address.....
.....
.....

Post code.....

BF number.....

I confirm that I have read and understood the England Fencing Policy and Guidelines on First Aid Qualification for Coaches.

Signed..... Date

I enclose a copy of my First Aid certificate (must be less than 3 years old).

I am booked on to a First Aid course (Date:) and will forward a copy of my certificate in due course.

I am seeking an appropriate First Aid course to attend, please send me information on courses in my area.

I choose not to hold a First Aid qualification at this time.

Signed Date.....

When complete, pass this declaration sheet to your Coach Educator. It will be included with all other documentation submitted to England Fencing when applying for your Coach certification.